General Barn Rules

Please use common sense and stay alert while at the barn as there are many hidden dangers that can cause serious injury. Parents: If your instructor is with another lesson, please don't leave children unattended in the barn area.

To reduce the risk of an accident to you or someone else, please do not run or shout in the barn.

For your safety, do not go into a horse's stall without permission (especially a horse you don't know), or take a horse outside to graze without permission.

No smoking is allowed on the premises.

Please help us keep the barn clean by picking up any trash including peppermint wrappers and cups/bottles.

Please do not bring dogs to lessons to avoid conflicts with owner's dogs or other clients.

Chewing gum is not permitted while riding.

In the best interests of our horses, we must require that a weight limit of no more than 200 pounds be enforced for all riders.

For safety and liability reasons, we cannot allow anyone on the property without an LSS staff member present.

Note To Parents: We encourage you to observe your child's lessons in order understand the learning process and so that you can see their progress. However, please refrain from sideline coaching. The instructor should be the authority figure during the lesson. Thank you!
